Gateway to Stratford-upon-Avon

Establishing a gateway to Stratford-upon-Avon is integral to the proposals. Redrow is keen to create a more traditional scheme in response to comments made on the existing planning permission.

Proposed scheme elevation finishes have been developed and consulted on with Stratford-on-Avon District Council and the Commission for Architecture and Built Environment (CABE).

The road layout around the railway station has also been carefully considered to ensure safe access for station users when walking to the town centre, using local transport or visiting the proposed commercial space.
